FOREWORD...

We have endeavored to embody in this volume some of the finer aims and ideals, activities and achievements of the college year 1933-34 at Southwestern, an accomplishment we hope that will reflect some of the beauty and personality of the campus life.

If in the years to come these pages shall serve to awaken fond memories of your college days, the aim of those who now present this volume shall be realized.

SENIOR CLASS

OFFICERS

ENGLE MAY	.	.	.	.	.	.	President
RAYMOND MARIE	.	.	.	.	.	.	Vice-President
INEZ BLUE	.	.	.	.	.	.	Secretary

A regular meeting of the freshman class was held on January 30th, 1931. The meeting was opened with the nomination of the Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. W. J. Landry was chosen Treasurer and Miss Ada Moss was chosen Secretary.

At this meeting the class of '34 consisted of 422 members. The bright and shining Freshmen looking forward to the day when they could be the seniors of the campus and show as much authority and dignity as had been shown them since their arrival.

At the class meeting of September 1932, we find that the class roll had changed quite a bit since the first meeting. Of the 422 that started in as freshmen we only have 114 left. Some have fallen by the wayside, others have moved to other parts of the country, but a large number have continued.

The class of '34 has been a very active class and has done many things that will long be remembered by the students of Southwestern Campus. They have been leaders in all campus activities. In the year of 1931, the freshman class took a very active part. We find them putting on a stunt entitled a Nigger Revival. This was done on the annual stunt night. The act brought much comment from the other organizations of the campus. The class also took an active part in the Y. M. C. A. circus the same year.

The class as Sophomores were very interesting. They continued their active work on the campus. This year, the class organized a constitution by which to govern themselves. They also formed steering committees to carry on the business of the class and to keep in touch with the duties of the class.

In the Junior year, the class of '34 continued the good work in all activities. We find them taking part in the assembly programs, putting on a popularity contest, and they even put out a special edition of the Vermilion. This type of work has been very valuable to the students of the campus.

The class has been led from year to year by different presidents, but always under the able advisor, Mr. Agate, who has always shown and given much to the class.

JUNIOR CLASS

OFFICERS

MARTIN MONIES	President
HENRY VOORHIES	Vice-President
A. L. STIVISON	Secretary
FLOYD HAMILTON	Treasurer

The class of 1935 held its first meeting on the sixteenth of September 1931. Herbert Hamilton, then president of the Student Body, presided over this meeting and helped us with the difficulties of organization. Mr. Edgar Higgins was elected our first president. Other officers for our freshman year were: Mr. Howard Jaubert, Vice-President; Miss Joyce Houston, Secretary; and Miss Doris Champagne, Treasurer. A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution which was duly adopted and our plans of organizing were completed.

A year passed dwindling our ranks slightly. Mr. Higgins was again elected President; Mr. Lowell Moore was elected Vice-President, and Miss Champagne and Miss Jane Talbot were elected Secretary and Treasurer respectively. We were now privileged to send a representative to the Student Executive Council and to that position we elected Mr. A. L. Stivison. Miss Marguerite Erwin was elected to fill the vacancy left by Miss Champagne's withdrawal from school.

This year found fewer than ever of us back to enter Southwestern's portals. We were more able to handle the situation vital to us, and we were better and more effectively organized than at any previous time. Mr. Martin Monies piloted us safely through the year assisted by Mr. Henry Voorhies, Vice-President; Mr. A. L. Stivison, Secretary; and Miss Floyd Hamilton, Treasurer. We were allowed two seats on the Executive Council and we wisely selected Miss Katherine Courts and Mr. Eloi Primeaux to represent us.

Next year our numbers will again be lessened, but we shall continue striving with heart and soul to further Southwestern and loyally uphold her in any and all of her endeavors.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

OFFICERS

MAURICE FALL	President
HERMAN SIGLER	Vice-President
LUCY HOFFPAUIR	Secretary
EDGAR DOUGLAS	Treasurer
PEARL BOND	Reporter

The Class of 1936 has had quite an eventful history. The following are only two examples of its eventfulness:

During its freshman year such a clever stunt was produced for the Annual Stunt Night that all the campus marveled at the originality of the "Freshman Class".

They sponsored a dance which will never be forgotten (Only Freshmen allowed —this fact in itself was striking) for a good time was had by all.

Of course, the Class of 1936 was fortunate indeed to have for its officers those who proved to be the most outstanding students in the class. They entered into the activities of the class with such resourcefulness as to make the entire student body sit up and take notice. The "body" has been noticing since then.

These good works have been carried on into the sophomore year. Seldom has a class had such a full program and every item been fulfilled to the letter.

All the credit for a successful career cannot go in entirety to the officers. A more loyal class never has been. They have backed with all their strength any enterprise which was put before them. They attended their class meeting from choice for they knew an interesting time awaited them.

And the class of '36 will put themselves through to the end, backing to the best of their ability the plans and schemes presented to them.

The Freshman Class was represented by excellent teams in all lines of sport.

The football team had a successful season, winning two games, tying one, and losing one. Several prospects for the varsity team of next year were uncovered during these games.

The Frosh basketball team won games over outstanding high school teams of this section before suffering a defeat. Their complete record shows victories and defeats.

The Freshman tennis team placed second in Intramural Tennis competition.

The boxing team was undoubtedly the best yearling team in the state.

The track team, composed of many former high school stars, is looking forward to a successful season.

The members of the Freshman Class were prominent in campus activities and could be found in practically all of the extra-curricular organizations at Southwestern.

The social activities of the Class of '37 were very limited. However, a weiner-roast was enjoyed by all the class members.

CHEER LEADERS

ALMA MATER

Alma Mater, beloved old Southwestern,
Pride of our Southland so fair!
Oaks and pines and sweet magnolia's beauty,
Show forth thy charms so rare.

Alma Mater, for honor, truth and wisdom
Thy halls for aye shall stand;
Loyal sons and daughters sing proclaiming
Here's my heart and hand.

COACHING STAFF

BROWNE

WILBANKS

REINHARDT

GRAY

In athletics, the Red and White colors have flown high during the past year at Southwestern, and this is due mainly to the efficient and conscientious group of coaches. Whatever the success in athletics at S. L. I. may have been the year gone by, it can never be said that any effort has been spared to give the teams the best coaching talent available.

At the helm is Mr. R. L. Browne, athletic director, better known as "Coach Browne". His is an unending task. For not only does he supervise all, but he's track mentor too. He has served with distinction in S. I. A. A. circles and is a leader in athletics. This year he was elected vice-president of the S. I. A. A. conference.

The football season saw the game getting better and better. After a rather slow start, the Bulldogs came back to win the last four games in a row. Because a large percentage of sophomores formed the core of the squad, Coach Wilbanks had a tough time getting them to work together, but when they did settle down he had produced a smooth running well-oiled machine. Wilbanks and his capable assistant Ben Cameron have put new life into the situation at Southwestern and great things are expected. Both of these men are former residents of Homer, Louisiana. Coach Cameron came to us this year, a graduate and star from Centenary, and he's letting the Bulldogs profit by his wide and varied experiences.

Here's the varsity basketball coach. Coach Reinhardt is a great man, this Iowa-State-born-and-bred youngster. An All-American forward at Iowa State, he graduated from that University in '31, and since that time he's been teaching Southwestern men what he has learned. Since he has been here, a brand new style of play has gradually worked into S. L. I. basketball, which is the result of his tireless efforts on the courts. "Rome wasn't built in a day", and the same goes for a good basketball team. It is the product of 3 or 4 years of hard work. In time—as soon as his system is instilled in S. L. I. men—it'll be hard and nearly impossible to stop the red and white cagers.

One of the best boxing teams S. L. I. has had in years was led to battle by Coach Barron Gray, who knows the game from A to Z. Once a pro, one who was a real drawing card and one who always featured in the main bouts, Coach Gray teaches his men all that he's learned to do between the gongs.

The season's record speaks for itself. The man power at Southwestern has hit a new high, and brighter football stars arise on the football horizon. A great team is fast coming into being, one that won its fame when the odds were against it, when the going was the toughest. This past year, the Bulldogs dropped three games, one to Loyola, another to Lamar, and the last to Mississippi, and each defeat can be explained in terms of breaks. Next year will bear this out, for S. L. I. will be right on top, gunning for an S. I. A. A. Championship.

ADKINS

AYLMER ADKINS

The men who tote the pigskin get the glory, but what about those who clear the way? The answer is told in action, especially in the case of Aylmer Adkins, a superb blocking back. Yes, Adkins belongs to that large, unsung, interfering brigade, and when he has cleats between himself and the turf, he can do anything with that agile body. He flings it here and there with precision and skill, upsetting interference, spiling would-be tacklers, and bringing down runners. A sophomore in the College of Education, this North Louisiana lad has two more years to cleat himself to glory and his team to victory.

CASSIE BASS

A junior in the Commerce Department, Cassie Bass is an ideal type of college man. He's not only a good football player, but he's a good student. He takes his studies seriously, and is a favorite of Mr. Agate's. He is also a bright spot in the very existence of Coach Wilbanks. He is just large enough to carry the burden in tough going, and has all the speed and versatility that anyone could ask for. He has a habit of blocking punts, and by this he has turned the tide in many a battle. His short stocky build enables him to outcharge men almost twice his size. His hard and fast charge and noble fighting spirit adds much pep and scrap to the team. He too, hails from the hot-bed of football stars—Homer, Louisiana.

TOM BICKMAN

Another Homer Star—Tom Bickham. That 206 pounds of concentrated dynamite was shipped to us in the fall of 1931. He has proved that he's just as good an end as tackle, however he's at his best when he's flanking the guard, and it's pretty hard to imagine how anyone could be a better tackle. He's no slouch at end either. Loyola players left the field last season singing his praises, and that means something. He was chosen on the Loyola All-opponent Team, and got All-S. I. A. A. mention. Bickham has but one year left to fight for S. L. I.

HOYD BROCK

Brock of the Homer brood has just finished his third year of college and is ready to battle through his last season of inter-collegiate football. He is a hard worker and believes in training. During his off season, he sings sometimes in the Cypress Grove, but most of the time on the stage. Brock has an appealing voice, and likes his musical work second only to football. He's a member of one of Dr. Porter's best quartets. Playing center, this crooner, usually backs the line on the defense. And what a pile-driving he gives the foe as they stick their heads through the line. Leg drive and guts are his chief grid assets.

EUGENE CELLA

Here's a Yankee who left his home in New Rochelle, New York, to play football down South in the "cane-brakes of Louisiana". After setting the high school woods afire back at home, he came to S. L. I. to set the college circles ablaze. He started at fullback; then held down an end post, only to again find himself a driving full. At terminal, Cella is especially brilliant on the receiving end of an air attack, and is a particularly deadly tackler. At full, he is a plunger with a terrific drive, a very effective blocker, and a polished defensive man. His greatest ambition is to play next year on a winning team.

SOUTHWESTERN

DOUGLAS

EDDIE DOUGLAS

From Parrish, Alabama, Eddie Douglas came to us two years ago with that same winning smile. He has a right to smile too, with such a successful season as he has just tucked away. "Doug" does everything required of an end. He's a deadly blocker; a marvel on the defense; he can play a smashing or a waiting game—what'll you have? He's death under punts—and can he grab those passes? By taking in long air-line heaves, he's pulled many a game out of the fire. He's an invaluable man and anxiously awaiting next season.

WEEDMAN DUHE

Better known as "Zu-Zu", Weedman Duhe from Garyville, Louisiana, has 204 pounds of muscle well distributed over a frame that stands almost six feet. Regardless of his size, he moves fast and loves to smack 'em—we mean opposing players. He is capable of generating lots of power with that stocky frame, and those well-rounded legs give him a foundation that enables him to shake off would-be tacklers like sheets of paper. Because of a broken hand, he was practically kept out of competition the past year, but watch him go next season.

JIMMY FERRELL

Playing his first year of varsity football this past year, Jimmy Ferrell has gained quite a reputation. In the annual, supervised scrimmage against L. S. U. he showed his pile-driving proclivities, and gave the Bengal line a good ramming. This made Biff Jones sit up and take notice and comment favorably on our battering-ram. Whenever a few yards are needed they give the ball to Ferrell; he does the rest. Ferrell's home is in Houston, Texas.

SAM FERTITTA

Now one at a time, girls. This is Sam Fertitta of Leesville, a junior in Liberal Arts. Off the field, he's noted for his chivalry and dress, but when he garbs shoulder pads, helmet and cleats he's a different man. He's a good blocker and much of the time he handles the opposing tackle single-handed. He rides the tackles hard and makes it a point to be the first man down under the punts.

THENES HAJECATE

"Greck" is the nickname; and if you play guard against him take care if he gets irate. He's TNT—"use no hooks". It's a funny thing about the guards; they are always in the thick of the fight, doing yoeman's work, yet few people ever give them proper credit. Not funny, it's tragic. So it's a pleasure to shove Mr. Thenes Hajecate of Houston, Texas into the glare of the spotlight. A roving guard and a relentless spotter of forward passes, he roamed far and wide behind that bulldog line. Always harrying the opposition, upsetting their best laid plans, constantly mingling with the secondaries, he's one of the best football men that ever wore a red and white jersey.

EDGAR HIGGINS

Still another Homerite, a remarkable halfback, who's a shining example of drive and weaving. He's called "Bulldog", and shows the Bulldog spirit in a characteristically picturesque fashion. He's headed for his last session, but already he has blazed a path as one of the sweetest runners at 'Sly'. He's a thunderbolt tackler and good in pass defense. He's a hard runner and a shifty ball carrier.

JOHN HONEYCUTT

Whenever an extra point is needed, John Honeycutt of Bonita is called back. He boots it with skill and accuracy. This, however, is not his only asset. He's a crack blocker, and a shifty hard runner, and is always good for a gain. Next year he'll play his last season of football, yet he is raring to go.

LAWRENCE JACOBS

Here's a tower of power, a 190-pound tackle, Lawrence Jacobs of Reserve, Louisiana. He's just another unsung hero of the line. Jacobs knows football from one end to another and was called the "coach on the field" during his high school days. Altho he's a linesman he can punt or pass with any back. So look out for this two-headed giant, with a modest, self-effacing demeanor, and a jaw that juts out like a crag. He's a physical wonder, with fortitude beneath his belt.

RYAN JEANSONNE

Here's the "Cottonport Flash". Ryan Jeansonne is an all-around star, a will-o-the-wisp in a broken field, a hard and indomitable runner. It was his dexterity, dazzling speed and running back of punts that gave Spring Hill the heebie-jeebies last season. Jeansonne has one more year to roam the college woods, and when S. L. I. goes places next year Jeansonne will be leading the parade. This quiet, modest youngster will be the man around whom the offense will be built this fall. He's probably the biggest moment in bulldog history since Cagle dazzled them several years back.

MOSBY LINDSAY

Here's Eddie Douglas' running mate—Mosby Lindsay of Lafayette. Only a sophomore, Lindsay went through his first varsity year with great success. He's mighty fast for his size, and with his speed he combines rugged line-breaking power. He is calm and capable on the defense, a sure tackle, and he knows how to use his weight in the interference. He's a good man too on the receiving end of the darting forward passes that break out of Wilbanks well-masked attack.

MAY

BUSTER McMURRAY

Another bright star from the pine-clad hills of North Louisiana—yes, Homer, Louisiana is his chief stamping ground. And everybody back at home knows “Buster” McMurray, for he blazed the headlines when he piloted Homer High to many a victory. He calls signals, kicks goals, and can carry that leather through a broken field. He’s elusive as a flea, a weaving type of runner; instead of shifty footwork, he dodges the pitfalls by snake-hip movements that would put Mae West to shame. He is always moving forward and rarely tries to outspurt an opponent.

ENGLE MAY

No coach could fail to shed a few tears over the loss of a player of such extraordinary versatility. Engle May who hails from Poplarville, Mississippi, has played his last year of intercollegiate football and is now ready to call signals in the biggest game of all. He’s the type of man who seems to fade through would-be tacklers. In deceptive running, he shines with greatest brilliance. Here his quickness and co-ordination give him the advantage over the bulkier type of back. He feints, spins, cuts in, appears to dart into the tackler’s arms, and then is gone. He was elected best all-around athlete at Southwestern for two years. Track and basketball come next after football.

LOWELL MOORE

Lowell Moore’ll have writer’s cramp from autographing year-books, but he’s at his best when the going is toughest, so line up, girls. He was elected the most handsome man at school the past year. Despite his good looks he’s a fighting bulldog, whose guard play is well-liked. He’s a junior, and it took several games for the fans to become acquainted with his spectacular, aggressive style of play. But not so with his opponents on the line. All they had to do was play a few minutes against this handsome brute and they knew his true worth.

MONROE MOSS

He’s gone, but won’t be forgotten. Monroe Moss played his last game for S. L. I. this past season, and never again shall he lead the Red and White warriors to battle. He started out as a man apart—a captain, and he ended his career as a leader. At the end of last season he was playing tremendous football. He was a freshman wonder, and as a sophomore he was good enough to step right into a varsity berth. As a junior he was a whirlwind and his last year saw him playing inspired football. Under that gentle exterior there are steel-hard muscles, competitive courage, deep stamina. Moss was the hub of the Bulldog mighty line. He fed his backs faultlessly, outcharged every man he faced and the way he backed that line smacked of sheer genius.

BERT O'DONNELL

Again we come to a position that seldom sends forth a man to be singled out for the rousing cheers of the crowd. The guards always bear the brunt of the attack, yet they never get the glory. “Tarzan” Bert O'Donnell is among them. A powerfully built chap, long and lanky but sturdy, he came to us from Mississippi at the beginning of this year. He was outstanding against the Badgers, but no one knew it. Ryan Jeanson’s 50-yard run blazed the headlines. It was a great sprint, and the lad from Cottonport deserves full credit. Yet—like the time when Paul Revere went on his famous ride—they forgot to mention the other chap who galloped along. It was O'Donnell who paved the way that night under the floodlights. Deep into the rivals’ secondary he charged. One of the visiting backs was all set for a dive at our fleeting ball-carrier. Maybe he would have gotten him; certainly it looked like it then. But you’ll never know, for O'Donnell’s 180 pounds crashed into the back with a superb block, and the way was clear again.

PLAUCHE

SHIRLEY

LUTHER PERRIN

Perrin is the name. Luther Perrin. He's noted for speed and deception. Not a very big man, but muscled like a wrestler, he's very good in a broken field. Also he's a superb tackler, one of those boys who's not content with merely stopping the foe, but who loves to inject a bit of extra impact and additional twist into their establishment of contact. He's a fast starter, and, starting, he lowers his bullet-like head and relies on terrific leg-drive to get him through the line. Once through he brings into action those snake-like hip movements that take him still further on his goal-line journey.

LEMOYNE PLAUCHE

Fast for his stocky frame, Lemoyne Plauche, leaves his mark quickly and generates great power in charging. He has played fullback for the Bulldogs, and is capable of holding that position down very creditably. His scrap and power, however, were needed in the forward wall. He's a fighter of the fearless type, and when opponents get rough, he's perfectly at home, for he can take it, and is no slouch at dishing it out. Plauche has played his third year and is ready for his final stanza.

ROBERT ROBERTSON

Never more shall he roam the chalk-barred battle-field of 'Sly'. "Robbie" Robertson will walk off with his sheepskin thereby letting go of the pigskin and the boxing gloves too. Robbie's as good a boxer as he is a guard. He's power incarnate, and with that muscular frame he can do anything. When he's blocked, he's bottled 'em completely, and when he charged he ripped holes in opposing lines. He'll be sorely missed.

RUSSELL SHIRLEY

Southwestern is not without its hard-luck star, either. Russell Shirley, 180-pound tackle, who can tear them wide open, has never had much chance to get started because of injuries. It seems that the football jinx has marked him, and if it isn't one thing it's another. He was almost entirely kept out of competition last season, but he's a potential star. This giant is a human battering-ram in the line, and has ample strength to overpower the opposition. A dynamic charge, cat-like foot work, a great fighter—that's Russell Shirley.

TED SPRINGER

A thunderbolt on the attack—that's Ted Springer of Houston, Texas. A barrel-chested, heavy-shouldered, thick-armed young man, this burly tackle would be game to tackle a regiment. Off the field, he's as mild and unobtrusive a young man as you might want to meet. But once the whistle has blown, all that has changed. His jutting chin thrusts forward an extra, menacing inch, his thick legs drive like pistons, his muscular arms sweep opponents aside like chaff in the mill. The joy of battle flows supreme then. He is a raging, roving conqueror.

DAN STEVENSON

Throughout the years, Southwestern has resounded the praises of many great backs: Theriot, Jordan, Cagle, the list is too long to name them. But even now the Bulldog does not have to feed on memories. In Dan Stevenson, whirling dervish, flaming spirit, gainer of those precious extra yards, 'Sly' has a back who is worthy to be ranked with the best of them. He has a dual personality. He ambles gently on his way to classes, he smiles lazily at his profs, he seems at peace with the world. But give him a football, turn him loose on the chalk-scarred turf, see him slash, spin, drive pell-mell over a tackler. He can be ranked head and shoulders over any opposing quarter. With his inspired leadership and uncanny judgment he's a wizard at finding the right play, a great runner in a broken field, and a fine kicker.

JOE STEWART

Here's the campus electrician, Joe Stewart. Now let's don't go wrong: Joe may not be the best tackle that ever slipped into a red and white jersey, but he comes so close to it that it makes no difference. If a coach were building a tackle to order, he'd do well to choose Joe Stewart as a physical model. Weighing 182 pounds, fast, and alert, he combines tremendous forward drive with mobility that is essential to the good tackle. He fits like a glove into Wilbanks' complicated system of line play that demands a continuous flow of power from the tackles. What it takes to produce power, Joe Stewart has. He proved to be one of the most brilliant line-breakers in the conference. This hammer-emption tackle has been playing a whale of a game for three years and expects to cap the climax next year.

ERNEST WALL

No, not Homer; it's Houma, Louisiana this time, but you'd think it was Homer to watch him play. Like Brock he has an appealing voice, and can sing on or off the stage too. He's one of Dr. Porter's best voices and one of Wilbanks' best ends. He combines speed with overwhelming power. His strength wrecked anything that started around his wing, but on the offense he shone even brighter. He opens holes single-handed, snatches passes from any angle and tackles with authority.

ALBERT ZOCK

Here's Dan Stevenson's running mate, Albert Zock—and like Steve, he's as good against one team as another. His heart and soul are in the game. It's his heart's blood. Football is a religion with him, and, when he dons that red and white jersey and digs his cleats into the turf, he lashes himself into fine frenzy which scoffs at the odds. Zock runs with a galloping gait, and passes while galloping backward, sideways or from any angle, yet his air-line heaves are extremely accurate. "From Zock to Doug" was the cry that frequently arose from the stands last season. His passing is invaluable and it has saved many a game. He's great in the pinches—the personification of football instinct. He's good all the way—in victory or defeat, in any kind of going.

The Bullpup schedule was rather tough, yet the record not half bad. But what else was there to expect? Fresh from his triumphs of the previous year Coach Reinhardt once more produced a team that went places. Here's a tip: watch those ends, McCullough and Moreau. They'll be in there fighting for varsity places next year. And that running quartette—any backfield that has "Cow" Landry in its midst must be good, but he has worthy assistants: "Poone" Prejean, ever apt to break loose on wild dashes; and Guidry, perhaps the nimblest hip weaver of the lot. All have been clicking in smooth precision. They'll add much to the varsity next year.

The past season saw Mr. Jinx playing the heads-up game. He was Johnny-on-the-spot, when he so neatly placed a grim seal of doom on the S. L. I. Basketeers' chances. As is evidenced by the season's record, many a contest was close. Thrilling games were played with that well-known last-minute turn-over, which unfortunately went too frequently against the locals. The team was not weak—far from it. It showed it could go out and battle on even terms with any of them. The team work, passing and rhythm of plays was good indeed. The Bulldogs gave Loyola an impressive sample of their wares, when they made that powerful quintet bow twice during the season.

HAIR

LARUE DONALD

Here we see probably the tallest of its kind in captivity—Donald of DeRidder, Louisiana. His mother named him LaRue; the world calls him “Slim”; his girl just says, “.....(well, we’d better not say). But no matter what they call him, he’s Donald, a mighty center in any line-up. In most every game last year he was successful in getting the tip-offs, which is half the victory itself alone. He fights like a Trojan, is tireless in body and spirit. His work under the backboards is excellent.

ARTHUR HAIR

A guard who the coaches are willing to stack up with any of them. Hard as nails, tall and rangy, Arthur Hair of Wright, Louisiana, is possessed of a spirit that has carried him forward, when there wasn’t much but spirit left. He’s the kind that coaches rave about. What next year has in store for him we can’t guess, but just give him a little encouragement and he’ll show you folks some basketball.

MOSBY LINDSAY

Here’s a real good defensive man who’s no slouch on the offense. In other words, Mosby Lindsay, is nothing short of an all-around star, a will-o-the-wisp on the courts, with an indomitable fighting spirit, and plenty of the will-to-win. A sophomore last season Lindsay is one of Coach Reinhardt’s best guards. He has an unusually good faculty for passing, especially when he’s cornered.

BUSTER McMURRAY

Buster McMurray of Homer, Louisiana is similar to Engle May—that is, he too is an all-around man. A three-letter man, McMurray looks eagerly for more major sports. He can dribble, he can run, and how he can shoot! Buster is the only one of the Homer crew that goes for basketball in a big way, but in his superb play he makes up for the whole gang. With him Homer is well represented on the hard-wood floors. He is possessed of more than ordinary ability, travels at a lively pace, and never tires.

ENGLE MAY

As Engle May of Poplarville, Mississippi takes his diploma to battle in the biggest game of all—Life, Southwestern mourns the loss of one of her greats. May, known as Southwestern’s all-around man was not only the smoothest working forward on basketball courts, but also he was a leader in football and track. He did practically everything with a basketball that was humanly possible. High point honors soon came to be a habit with him. His glowing personality and intense modesty are rivaled only by his superior acumen. A constant threat he was always a permanent thorn in the side of the opposition.

ARTHUR NAQUIN

Did the "hand of the Potter" slip? No! Then all men are not born free and equal. Arthur Naquin is possessed of just a little more "something" than anyone else. He's one of those rare combinations of brain and brawn. Not only did he letter in a major sport, but he also maintained a high scholastic standing, in fact, so high that he was "tapped"—the only man to receive both singular honors in '33. But let's don't allow that to overshadow his skill with the casaba. He's death under the goal, can toss them in from any angle. A true scoring threat, he is hard to stop on any man's court.

LUTHER PERRIN

A junior in the College of Education, we see Luther Perrin of Kaplan, Louisiana, in that characteristic, squatting pose—you know, the way he does just before he adds two points to the total. A clever player, he is one of the best forwards in the conference. He can wiggle through anything, and when he does, he rings them up with ease and precision.

ELOI PRIMEAUX

A Hayes, Louisiana man, Eloi Primeaux is a junior in the College of Education studying agriculture. As you can see, he is no giant, but he packs skill with a terrific speed, and can do practically everything required of a forward. And in addition to his stellar playing, he knows how to handle a team. There's plenty of basketball savvy, and keen strategy in that curly head.

RAYMOND RUPERT

Raymond Rupert, a junior in the College of Education, has earned the reputation of "old reliable". He usually plays opposite the best scoring threats in the conference to hold them down amazingly well. His guard is well-nigh impregnable, and when it comes to making baskets, he's right in there too. Rupert is also a track man.

HERMAN SIGLER

Another guard of the bottle-em-up-variety—Herman Sigler of Grant, Louisiana. When he spreads those long arms, it would be hard to get a marble through—much less a basketball. Just a sophomore with two more years left, he's in the prime of his college career. Perhaps his passing is his greatest asset. He has big hands, an arm like a whip, and keeps his head when they are crowding him. Tab Sigler is one of the prospective greats for next season.

Dropping five games out of 15, the freshman squad was a bit more successful than the varsity. At the beginning, the team was not at all like the one that closed the season against Washington High School. New men reported as the season progressed, which seemed to renovate the club. By the end of the basketball year, the squad was getting together much better, defeating strong clubs like the Lafayette Firemen and Cathedral Alumni. They clearly showed the results of Coach Jordan's diligent work.

B O X I N G

And now we turn to that manly art of self-defense, boxing. Here the Bulldog showed his teeth, and made his opponents feel the full fury of his pugnacity. Facing a schedule that was none too easy, Coach Gray's team came through the test with its head held high.

Not only did the men show a lot of fight, but each fighter knew just how to handle those mitts. They out-boxed every team they faced, losing only through forfeits. The Bulldog mittmen clearly showed the result of thorough training, while some of their rivals seemed rather ragged at times. But all colleges are not lucky enough to have a Barron Gray as coach; and herein lies the secret. It is highly probable that Coach Gray has no equal in adapting precision to power. Given men who have never even been within the ringside, he can fashion an almost unbeatable machine.

Things the S. L. I. Mentor doesn't know about "the cauli-flower industry" are not worth knowing. Having once been the leading contender for the welter-weight crown in the south, he's quite capable to handle the Southwestern boxers. When he defeated Bobby Pitts, champion of the state of Texas, and won over Mississippi's title holder, Curtis Mullen, he had as good a claim for the Southern Welter-Weight title as any one. Out of 47 professional fights he has lost but three, one to "Spike" Webb, ex-naval champion. Next year Coach Gray promises to produce the best team in the south. And this is liable to come to pass too, for he came mighty close to doing that this year.

CESTIA

HOKE

BURTON CESTIA

Burton Cestia—a New Iberia product—a coming champion. He gained this reputation with superb all-around effectiveness, by meeting and beating every crisis. High-spirited, quick-witted, and heady, Cestia's performances were perfect. He battled with authority, was practically unstoppable, and punched like a fury. What more can a man do?

JIMMIE CESTIA

Here's one of the best in the South, who came sweeping up like a typhoon from the Gulf. Yes, New Iberia's the home town. His high school days saw him brilliantly climb the ladder of fame. Now he's at it in college. His ever-sparkling, inspired fighting is the secret of his success. Like all men who do big things, he has fought the odds and licked them. In every department of the game, he's outstanding.

ALBERT HOKE

Here we see a real comer, Albert Hoke, a strapping, handsome lad, built like Fitzsimmons of old. As you see, he's gifted with a great pair of arms and shoulders, a trim waist, and a sturdy pair of legs. With this physical equipment, he does everything required of a boxer. The greatest ambition of this big, good-natured country boy from Welsh, Louisiana is to do all he can for S. L. I. And that he has done.

CARLO LISTI

This agile performer furnishes the comedy by making his rivals hit where he was. His speed, ducking, weaving and bobbing combine to make his opponents look sick. His versatility, and amazing co-ordination of nerves and muscles are unequaled. Carlo Listi is a freshman from Patterson, Louisiana. He's invaluable to the team.

GRANT MANLY

It wouldn't be a well-rounded boxing team if it weren't for "Doc" Manly of Orange, Texas. He is a muscle and brawn man, afraid of nothing, who batters and tears his way—boxes too. He starts with trigger action into a dazzling speed, and lands his punches just where he aims. Much like those stiff Texas breezes, he leaves strewn in his wake opponents who must conclude that they were hit with both the water bucket and the stool. He packs plenty of power behind each mitt, and when one lands—look out!

WOMACK

DANIEL MESTAYER

Don't be alarmed, folks, by this high-powered lad. It's only Dan Mestayer of New Iberia. Fast and alert, he combines tremendous power with speed and skill. What it takes to win fights this burly scrapper has in plenty. He proved that when he beat the famous Dugas of L. S. U. He is a junior in the College of Liberal Arts.

SIDNEY PESSON

From the same fertile boxing country we find Sidney Pesson—a finished boxer. He can do just about anything with the mitts that is expected of a brilliant clever fighter. He wades right in at the sound of the gong with that characteristic bobbing that seems to make him hit harder and faster. Many a good man has gone under his terrific hammering. Fast in every way, highly skilled in the technique of boxing, Pesson is an outstanding man.

ROBERT ROBERTSON

"Robbie" really punches. His paralyzing blows still echo and re-echo in the ears of Southwestern fans. A killer, he could always be depended on to keep the fight going. This aggressor graduates this year and will leave a big hole in the team. His muscle-bound frame always frightened opponents, but that they found wasn't the half of it: he punches with intent to kill.

HARRY SNATIC

Captain Harry Snatic is a plunger with indomitable courage. A very effective slugger and polished boxer, he hails from Westlake. Snatic loves boxing and training, and has great possibilities. He has two more years to fight for S. L. I. Snatic is captain of the team.

CARL WOMACK

Introducing the hardest feather-weight to lick in the country—Carl Womack of Lafayette. He can take it and dish it right out again. He fights and boxes too. Rugged and ever-ready, Womack loves the game of the gloves, and the sound of the opening gong is music to his ears. He is the type of man around whom coaches construct winning teams.

Annual S. I. A. A. District Meet, Louisiana Tech first, Southwestern fifth.

The Southwestern Track team of '33 didn't fare so well, but despite this it didn't go through the season without breaking at least one S. I. A. A. record. The season was opened on the first of April with the Annual Southwestern Relay Carnival, a major track event of the year for colleges and high schools in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas. Here fans saw Don Zimmerman, Tulane great, Payne and many other famous athletes in action. Loyola and Tulane carried off the honors. Southwestern won first place in the high jump, Jack Stone doing the jumping. In the dual meet with Normal the local team was nosed out of a victory, losing on the last relay. At the Annual District Meet the S. L. I. spikemen placed fifth, with Louisiana Tech taking first place. Here Engle May tied the S. I. A. A. low hurdle record of 24.4, a record that he had previously broken in the preliminaries.

The Women's Athletic Association of Southwestern co-operates with the Department of Physical Education by promoting a practical health program of sports for all women students. In addition, the organization with its purely voluntary membership has a far reaching purpose of its own. The association is concerned only with voluntary participation in athletic activities, laying special emphasis upon those which may be continued after college days.

As a member of the Athletic Conference of American College Women, the association is pledged to non-participation in inter-scholastic games and is active in the movement to abolish the highly competitive games which have been found to result in the physical detriment of adolescents in secondary schools.

Yvonne Menou, president and Myrtis McCutchan, secretary, were chosen the preceding spring. Ruth O'Brien replaced Eula Bishop as vice-president. On the occasion of the second meeting fifty-six girls formally joined the association.

Stunt Night, upon which occasion all masculine and feminine Southwestern unite in co-operation with the association, was held on November 17th. The stunts disclosed an amazing amount of talent, suspected and unsuspected. The judges, Mrs. George Lovell, Mr. Vavaseur Mouton, and Mr. Lionel Jeanmard, experienced their usual difficulty in awarding the prizes. The P. D. E. Sorority's Mae West with her "Same Old Song" and the Dramatic Club's "Jazzy Justice" tied for first place for the cleverest presentation. That for the prettiest went to the D. E. N. Sorority dancing the "Blue Danube".

On February ninth, the members of the W. A. A. were hostesses to all women students at their annual colonial ball which was held at the Evangeline Hotel. A formal garden scene formed an attractive background for the costumed dancers. The judges, Mrs. R. E. Bourque, Mrs. W. S. Dearmont, and Mrs. A. B. Denbo awarded costume prizes to Mary Agnes Saloom and Myrtis McCutchan. Second prizes were awarded to Merriel Theriot and Marie Donlon. Anita Dennis and Ruth O'Brien won the old-fashioned waltz contest.

On February twenty-third, the association was hostess to the visiting high school basketball teams. Twenty-four officials were furnished for the games sponsored by the Extension Division of Southwestern.

Remaining events on the W. A. A. program include intramural basketball and baseball games upon which occasions the dormitory and town teams will participate.

Twelve members of the Association will attend the Physical Education convention held in New Orleans, March 28-31, where they will take part in a program of English folk Dances.

Gym Night, the W. A. A. picnic and the Cypress Grove pageant are all annual events yet to come. The awarding of the emblems at the final W. A. A. assembly in May will close the program of the association.

The Women's Athletic Association, through its varied activities, aims to cultivate an enduring sport habit in women students of Southwestern until all are participating in sport—for health, for skill and for fun.
